State College of Kentucky.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) College of Kentucky, offers the following courses of study, viz: Agriculture, Horticulture, Chemical, Biological, Mathematical, Physical, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical, Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post graduate studies are also provided, leading each to a Master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty numbers nearly fifty professors and instructors.

COUNTY APPOINTEES receive tuition, room rent in dormitories, fuel and lights, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses.

The laboratories and museums are large, well-equipped, comprehensive and modern.

The legislature appropriated $60,000 for a college home for young women and $30,000 for drill hall and gymnasium for men. The latter is completed and in use, the former will be ready for occupancy in October.

Military tactics and science are fully provided for as required by Congress.

Graduates from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remuneration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the college to supply. Last year the matriculation list was 604.

Summer schools are provided for pedagogy, engineering and instruction in science.

Specialists with necessary number of assistants have charge of each department of natural science.

The State College of Kentucky, though bearing hitherto the title of College, is the only institution in the commonwealth doing, in any proper sense, university work.

The completion of the college home for young women will provide facilities for good board and lodging. It is equipped with all modern conveniences, including bath rooms and room for physical culture. It will be heated by steam and lighted by electricity.

An opportunity is afforded to them of a thorough education in Classics, Modern Languages, Literature, Science, Mathematics, Logic, Metaphysics, History and Political Economy. No other institution in the State offers the advantages for the education of women at all comparable to those offered by the State College of Kentucky.

For catalogue, methods of obtaining appointments, information regarding courses of study, and terms of admission apply to JAMES K. PATTERSON, PH.D., LL.D., Or to D. C. FRAZEE, Bus. Manager, Lexington, Ky.

Fall term begins Sept. 7, 1903.

The Jett-White Trial.

In the Jett-White trial at Cincinnati, the defense continued to present witnesses, with the purpose of establishing an alibi for the prisoners. The testimony, however, was not of a nature to add any strength to the cause of the defense, as the witnesses frequently seemed to become badly confused under cross examination.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery) says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by C. K. Wyly.

Dies Suddenly.

Newport, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Krieger, wife of Edward Krieger, Republican candidate for city treasurer, dropped dead at her home. Mrs. Krieger was preparing breakfast when death came.

My boy when four years old was taken with colic and cramps in his stomach. I sent for the doctor and he injected morphine, but the child kept getting worse. I then gave him half a teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and in half an hour he was sleeping and soon recovered. —F. L. WILKINS, Shell Lake, Wis. Watch for a Chill.

However slight at this time of year and in this climate, it is the forerunner of malaria. A disposition to yawn, and an all tired feeling even comes before the chill. BREVITIES OF FUN.

A Sad Case.—"Is she really so homely?" "Homely? Say, even an amateur photographer can't help but flatter her when he takes her picture."—N. Y. Sun.

A Non-Combatant.—"What is your position in the choir?" asked the new church member. "Absolutely neutral," replied the mild tenor. "I don't side with either faction."—Philadelphia Press.

"What do you put on your face after shaving?" asked the man who smelled of bay rum. "Court plaster, usually," replied the nervous chap, gloomily. — Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Maj. Bourbon—"I really don't know, suh, how old this whisky is; had it in mah cellah for 20 years, but—" Col. Kaintuck—"Mah land, majah, how did that happen, suh, did yo' mislay it?"—Philadelphia Press.

A Worried Debtor.—Ned—"I'm dreadfully worried about my debts." Jack—"It must be very annoying to be continually dunned." Ned—"Oh, hang the duns! What worries me is the fact that I can't get any more credit."—Kansas City Journal.

Assistant—"There is a woman in your studio who wishes to know what is the price of your last picture." Artist—"Tell her a hundred dollars." Assistant—"And she says she is a connoisseur." Artist—"Well, tell her a thousand."—Philadelphia Record.

His Interest.—Gertrude—"You say you've only been there two weeks and you have an interest in the business!" Vansant—"Yes; I was two hours late this morning, and the boss told me I'd better take some interest in the business in the future."—Magazine of Humor.

"But," persisted the St. Louis woman who had the shopping habit, "the firm declares in its advertisement that it only asks a fair price for its goods." "Exactly," replied her husband, "by which it means a 'world's fair price.'"—Philadelphia Catholic Standard.

TRAVELING MEN.

Are a Real Part of Our Great Educational System.

The traveling men are really a great body of national educators, says the Richmond Times. To the remotest hamlet they carry the news of everything new under the sun. All that science, art, literature and invention have produced they quickly place before their customers.

The discomforts of travel and the weary anxieties of their nomadic life make them all look forward to a golden time of comfort and happiness, when they will no longer wander from their own firesides. I have seen him at the little lonely country depot, waiting for the belated snow-bound midnight train. The weary winter wind was moaning through the scolding wires as he paced restlessly about the dimly lighted depot. Occasionally he would take out his watch, not to see the time of night, but to look at the one "fair woman under the sun"—she and none other, his wife.

As he put up the watch he murmured "God bless her." The simple prayer came from the depths of his loving heart, and it went straight to heaven. Love of home and family is, I believe, stronger with commercial travelers than any other class of men, the old aphorism, "absence makes the heart grow fonder," finding its fullest exemplification in the ranks of this great army of home-loving men.

When things "are coming his way" he is liberal and generous to a fault—nothing is too good for him or his. When it is otherwise, he accepts the situation regretfully but philosophically, and proceeds to sacrifice himself for those he loves. I have known him to carry his heavy grip from the trains to the hotel and make the old overcoat do another winter that the dear boy at home might have a bicycle. I have known him to quit smoking, saying that it didn't agree with him, that he might send the money to mother, who was having a hard time back in the old home in a distant state.

The bright oasis in their lives is when the six weeks' trip is over and for a week or ten days they enjoy the company and surroundings of home and the sweet, noble wife and the prattle of the children.

Thousands of these men, amid all their hardships and privations, bear a love and loyalty to home as sacred, as the memories which connect us with the love of a sainted mother or a sainted wife. By life, example and conversation they stand for a clear and upright manhood.
